Great Places in America singles out places of exemplary character, quality and planning; places with a unique identity, cultural interest, community involvement, and a sustainable vision for tomorrow.

Great Street Characteristics:

- Livable Built Environment - Brings all elements of the built environment — including land use, transportation, housing, energy, and infrastructure — together to contribute to high quality of life.

- Harmony with Nature - Recognizes the value of natural systems and responds to their natural settings.

- Resilient Economy - Builds a community’s capacity to react to both positive and negative changes in economic circumstances by providing a hub for economic diversity and community connections.

- Interwoven Equity - Belongs to everyone, serving a broad cross-section of the community members’ needs for housing, services, health, safety, and livelihood.

- Healthy Community - Contributes to the community’s health by providing safe and healthy access to high-quality food, physical activity, recreation, and health care services.

- Responsible Regionalism - Serves as hub for the neighborhoods and regions in which it exists. Accounts for, connects with, and is compatible with the greater municipal street network and the community as a whole.

- Authentic Participation - Is planned through the involvement of all segments of the community in analyzing issues, generating visions, developing plans, and monitoring outcomes.

Oklahoma’s program follows the National APA criteria; so, for more information on the above characteristics go to planning.org/greatplaces/suggestion/.
